Attorney-General Webster here produced some extracts from the *Irish World* praising Parneti's action in Parliament after 1882.

Sir Charles Russell, counsel for the Parnellites, put in some extracts adverse to Parnell.

A Missing Naval Officer.

Washington, May 1st.—The Navy Department officials are somewhat worried over the disappearance of Assistant Paymaster Smith of United States steamship Essex, recently arrived in New York from the Chinese waters. It is learned that he left the vessel on Saturday morning in New York intending to return, but did not. Foul play is feared as he had about $1,250 with him, and his record in the pass was good. His wife, who joined him in China and remained with him while stationed there, is on her way home by way of the Pacific Mail and is expected to arrive in New York to-morrow. No official report of his disappearance has been received at the Department.

Secretary Noble responded to the toast, "The United States," and made an eloquent speech in the line of the purpose of the Spanish commercial union. He said in part: "It is high time that by ocean steamships or by whatever means are at our disposal, the flag of the United States should be made at home in South America. We should give our encouragement to the establishment of steamship lines and a safe and reliable means of communication between this country and the great country south of us."

CLOSING SCENES.

THE LAST DAY OF THE INAUG-URAL CENTENNIAL.

Grand Army Men Pinning Badges

New York, May 1st.—The third and final day of the centennial celebration fully equaled the preceding days in the matter of weather. The skies were clear from sunrise and there was a cool breeze. The streets were in excellent conportions and composed of so many organiza-tions that it was found impossible to adhere even to the programme as finally published this morning. It was 19:30 o'clock before the head of the line reached the reviewing-stand, where the Presidential party were.

Mr. Harrison and party reached the stand at Madison Square about 10 o'clock. The President received an ovation as he passed up Fifth avenue en route. The enthusiasm of the vast crowds seemed in no wise abated, or the desire to hurrah surfeited by the events of the two preceding days.

SCHOOL CHILDREN BY THE THOUSAND.

There were the same miles of crowded streets and crowded balconies, housetops, grand-stands and windows; the same lavish display of bunting and red, white and blue generally. And there were more miles of processionists than yesterday. It can safely be asserted that the third day was the crowning spectacular one of the week. The procession was so large and varied that probably its like will not be seen in this country again for many years. A score of nationalities were there, marching under the American colors, but attired in characteristic national garb. There were scores of highly decorated floats, emblematic of history, poetry and material progress. There were school children by the thousands, marching with the precision of veteran soldiers. Much of this can be imagined. The floats, however, being the marked features of the spectacle, need description. Some of the most striking are described herewith. Floats were interspersed along the line of the procession, not strictly according to the programme, but whelever expedient, and the effect was very picturesque.

There were societies and organizations by the hundreds.

The procession was led by mounted police, General Daniel Butterfield acting as Chief Marshal, with a large corps of mounted aids.

Then came representatives of the various army and navy organizations of the United States Army and Navy, followed with the Twenty-fifth Regiment of New York Volunteers' Association.

The next was what was designated as the Star division. This was comprised of a very large representation of students of Columbia College, students of the University of the City of New York, the public school pupils and juvenile temperance and other organizations. "Baby George Washington" marched attired in the old-time costume. This division, however, had generally a sober tone. There was little glitter or color.

Division A consisted of a large number of in-dependent military organizations and temper-ance and charitable societies. Among the striking organizations in the division were the Guard Lafayette, Liberty Guards, French Americaus, Irish Volunteers, Lafayette Con-clave, and several commands of Sons of Vet-erans. rards and hop ranches, a man to run a neader. The next division excited a great amount of enthusiasm, being made up of veteran firemen.

In an explosion yesterday in a colliery at Dartmund, Germany, three persons were killed great country south of us."

Many prominent New Yorkers are interested. Hardly any man in the line of the whole pro-procession received greater applause than Harry doward, who, partially paralyzed, still hobbled over the line of march. He is well-known to same rank after rank of volunteer fire chiefs and ex-chiefs and volunteer bodies, each red-hirted, carrying the bell-mouthed brass trumpet of the old-time style, crammed full of flowers.

here were sixty volunteer fire organizations in ne, representing New York State, New England and Pennsylvania largely THE STATES. There was a float representing "Virginia," in the form of an old sailing vessel, bringing over olonists to the Jamestown settlement.
"New York" was represented by a boatload of outch settlers landing on Manhattan Island, with a tent and an Indian on the shore.
"Massachusett" was represented by the Marketter of the standard of the settlers are settled by the Marketter of the standard of the stand "Massachusetts' was represented by the May-flower on a small scale, a group of Pilgrim Fathers gathered amidships, and the famous compact being signed, and a log cabin with In-dians trading with the early settlers. "Delaware" and "Maryland" were repre-sented in a scene on the shore of the Chesapeake Bay, and Lord Baltimore landing with the Colo-nists. On a "Pennsylvania" float William Penn was expresented dealing with the Indians and refusg to make a treaty.

The first of these floats had a copy of the old Federal State House in Philadelphia, where the Declaration of Independence was signed.

The Swiss Germans had two floats beautiful in design, one representing "Helvetia," with twenty-two living female figures in the dress of the different cantons and an Alpine scene with a living group showing "Tell defying Gessler."

There were German riding clubs, singing ubs, representatives of German regiments in the American Civil War, athletic (turning) socious Schouters (turning) socious Schouters (turning) he American Civil War, athletic (turning) societies, Scheutzen Vereins and sharpshooters.

There was a representation of the industrial pursuits on floats, where German Americans were working. The Germans, probably, had nearly half as many persons in line as were in yesterday's military parade entire. It is estimated that 21,000 Germans paraded.

One of the most elaborate tableaux in the German wing of the procession represents the Prince of Carnival, and is 30 feet long, 8 feet wide and 18 feet high. It has a number of colossal champagne bottles 6 feet high, with an enormous glass perched upon corks in the middle of the float. For decorations there were miniature musical instruments and groups of merry-makers, dancers and maskers.

The "Liederkranz" float, in the form of rock with caverns and a water scene at the base. Lorelei sits at the top, playing a harp, while a young man comes out of one of the caves in a boat and sings about "Woe to the Nymphs." Other singers also appear. General Abram Daily, a veteran of 1812, marched down between two old gentlemen. He was dressed in an old uniform that he wore in 1812 and saluted and shook hands with the President from the street. He was afterward taken on the grand stand and presented to the President by General Sherman. President by General Sherman.

The Elizabeth Zouaves and Governor Gordon's Staff.

New York, May 1st.—A touching incident occurred yesterday when Commander Drake of the klizabeth Zouaves presented Governor Gordon and staff of Georgia with their Grand Army badges. It was the first meeting of the two old soldiers since they met on the field of battle. Commander Drake, learning that Gordon was riding behind the New Jersey troops, called his # staff about him and went to the rear of the line. The two old soldiers grasped hands in silence, while tears gleamed in the eyes of each. Then Drake took his G. A. R. badge from his breast and pinned it on the breast of Gordon. The Commander's staff followed the example of their leader, and pinned their badges on the breasts of other ex-Confederates. The thousands who witnessed the scene heartily cheered. A BURGLAR WALKS A MILE WITH # ant decision in the interference case of Daniels vs. Morgan, which involves the question of the right of a Patent Commissioner to grant a motion for a rehearing of a case which was finally disposed of by his predecessor, excepting on the discovery of new evidence. On March 22d Commissioner Hall awarded the priority of invention to Morgan and four days later, on motion for a rehearing, set the hearing for April 19th. At that time it was fully understood by him that his successor was to take charge of the office on April 1st. On April 10th the motion came up for hearing before Commissioner Mitchell, and counsel for Morgan asked that it be dismissed, as it asked for a rehearing of a decision of the former Commissioner upon the same facts and evidence upon which the decision was based. The matter was argued at length and taken under consideration. Commissioner Mitchell now rules that the duties of the Commissioner are in part administrative and in part of a judicial nature, and while the rule limiting the right of an administrative officer to review his predecessor's decisions may be applicable to him in an administrative capacity, it is equally clear that it is not binding upon him in the discharge of his tofficial duties. The motion to dismiss the motion for a rehearing is therefore overruled.

Somerset (Pa.), May 1st.—The mysterious tragedy in Jeiferson Township yesterday grows more revolting as the facts of the case develop. It now seems more than probable that David and George, the two sons of old man Shaulis, who was 65 years of age, hanged their father, and that David, an hour later, shot his young stepmother through the body as she was returning from the barn to the house. The stepmother still lives and may recover. The object of their crime was that they might the more speedily come into possession of the estate, which is very valuable.

The San Francisco Call says: The San Francisco Call says:

The Record-Union of a recent date comments favorably in respect to the interior newspapers of California, and urges that they ought to be well supported. The Call fully indorses the remarks of the Record Union, for really the interior paners are generally very creditable to their publishers. The interior papers, of course, are not full of articles upon every conceivable subject, but they publish the current news of the day in good shape. Indeed, the substance of every important telegram which comes to San Francisco is immediately telegraphed for use in the interior. It is interesting for the contrast it affords between the methods of our State Board and those of rival exhibitors who have entered the field in competition with California. We quote:

The California car was here some two weeks ago. It was here several days. I visited it twice, and was delighted with the exhibit.

The bottles of wine and champague made medry. The fruits and samples and everything in the car were so tastefully arranged it was a real work of art.

The ladies of the Westminster Presbyterian Church tendered to Mrs. Lou Auerbach a farewell reception last night in the church parlors. The rooms were beautifully decorated with flowers, and the following appropriate expressions of their kindly feelings towards the lady were hung on the walls in letters of gold, in English and German: "Lebe Wohl, Glueckliche Reise, Froehliches Wiedersehen:"—"Farewell. A pleasant journey. Happy will we meet again." Mrs. Auerbach leaves to-night for New York, and will there join the Yoerk party, which left this city a week ago, and sails for Europe on the 14th of May. Mrs Auerbach will be gone about a year and a halt, and will be the guest of Rudolph Auerbach, Sr., of Leipzig, Saxony. At the same time the California car stood here there was a Florida car. An admission fee of ten cents was charged to see Florida, and the exhibits and arrangement did not compare with your car, for they were a dirty, ill smelling, cheaply and miserably arranged show. The difference was especially noticeable after visiting the California. I took some ladies down to the depot, and after visiting the California car, we went to the Florida car, which looked fine outside, but we felt as if we had been swindled when we went inside. It was neither attractive nor interesting, while the California car was both, and in-tructive besides. THE APPROACHING CONVENTION OF LIBRARIANS.

An Important Conference of Librarians and Litterateurs-A Californian's Scheme-Etc.

State Librarian T. H. Wallis departed for St. Louis last evening, to attend the convention of State Librarians which will be held there on the 8th of this month. In 1887 Mr. Wallis drafted a resolution, setting forth the many advantages to be derived from a meeting of State Librarians, which was adopted by the Legislature in 1887, and in pursuance of said resolution T. H. Wallis was authorized to organize such a Convention and provide for a time and place of its meeting. Since said time libraries and education. The result has been most flattering, and is no doubt but that good will result from the Convention. The readers of the RECORD-UNION will remember that in February, 1887, this journal advocated the adoption of the resolution, and prophesied that the time was not far distant when the entire nation would wake up to the fact that something must be done to bring out this educational part of the Government. The success of a Government depends upon the social qualities, the morality and the intelligence of its people.

The American Library Association, a jealousy exists between them, but Mr. Wallis has succeeded in removing that barrier, and at his suggestion, the Association in September, 1887, passed the following

Resolved, That the American Library Association extend to the State Librarians a cordial invitation to join in its next conference, and, in case there are subjects which they may wish to discuss, not of a special interest to general Librarians, the formation of a separate section of the Association for State and Law Librarians is suggested.

OTHER INDORSEMENTS. The President of the Association, C. A. Cutter, writes as follows, under date of Boston, April 11, 1889:

I hear with pleasure that you have asked the State Librarians to meet at St. Louis while the A. L. A. is in session there. It seems to me most desirable, both for economy of traveling and for the increase of our joint influence, that the State Librarians should come as members of the A. L. A., though forming a separate section; but however you come, whether as part of our Association or as a separate society, you will be heartily welcome, and we will do all that we can to further your objects and make your visit pleasant.

Melvil Dewey, Secretary of the American New York, writes as follows:

I am just in receipt of yours of 22d of March, 1889, and hasten to answer you that the A. L. A. will give a most cordial welcome to a State Library section. I will try to do what I can to interest others. Now that I am myself one of the number, my feelings of two years ago are greatly decrened, and I feel strongly that this is the only wise plan. I shall take great pleasure in helping organize such a section.

Hon. A. R. Spofford, Librarian of Congress, wrote: "Your letter received. It is a good idea, one that will accomplish great results. State Librarians are much in need of a conference for discussing library matters. You have my hearty support, and I am certain the American Library Association will do all in its power to aid the con-

Soule, of Boston, and many others, have written very encouraging let-ters and have promised to give their time and attention to assist in carrying out the objects for which the Convention is called. There will be twenty State Librarians peronally in attendance, and ten will send persons to represent their States. Nearly all the Governors and State Superintendents of Education have promised to join in a letter recommending to the several States, Territories and to Congress the address that will be adopted by the Convention of State Librarians.

After the Convention adjourns at St Louis a Committee of the American Li-brary Association and the State Librarians will wait upon the President and reques that he mention the matter in his messas Mr. Wallis has received valuable as from Hon. I. G. Hoitt in this matter, which has resulted in stirring up the State Superintendent to the necessity of assisting the State Librarian.

SOME IMPORTANT SUBJECTS. The following will be presented by Librarian T. H. Wallis for discussion at the Conference:

Laving the Dust. The street-sprinklers have commenced to lay the dust in good style, and if they con tinue to do as well as they have so far the public will have cause to bless them. Ther is one reform, however, in street-sprinklin that should be insisted upon by the Trustees, and that is to have the drivers o the carts spare the street-crossings. Streets are sprinkled for the benefit of the people, who pay the taxes, and the comfort of those who put up the money should be taken into consideration in the matter. There is no necessity for the pilots of the water wagons opening the valves of their tanks on the crossings and making them almost impassable. They can just as well as not skip them, and thus remove a serious cause of complaint. The fact should not be lost sight of that it is the contractors who are under obligations to the citizens, and not the latter to the contractors. The Trustees have the power to prescribe the conditions under which the work shall be done, and those conditions should be such as will conduce to the comfort of those who

Held for Trial.

In Justice Devine's Court yesterday A. Cohn was examined on a charge of defrauding W. M. Smith of fifty dollars. The prosecution was represented by District Attorney Bruner, and the defense by C. T. It was developed that under a new law an offense of this kind-where the sum at issue is fifty dollars or under-amounts only to misdemeaner, and the prisoner was admitted to bail in the sum of $300, to appear for trial on the 13th.

DOUGLAS.

The Douglas Shoe for men. What a splendid reputation it has!

Salesmen like it. Salesmen have their likes and dislikes, like other people—what we mean

"is, they don't like a thing What those simply because it is theirs to sell. They are keen judges sell it think. of shoe leather, and come in contact with the comments and experiences of thousands. There are some shoes in our stock about which they hold differences of opinion, but as to the merit—the great merit-of the Douglas Shoe they are united to a man.

Those who wear the Douglas like it. There are hundreds of men in Sacramento who won't have any other shoe. We couldn't sell them anything else if we tried-neither could anyone else. The shoe is strong, neat and comfortable, probably stronger, neater and more comfortable than any shoe ever offered them for anything like the same The opinion money. Why should they of those change from a certainty to who wear it an uncertainty? The Douglas Shoe is of uniform quality. It is not good in spots. As one pair is, so are ten thousand. If one pair lasts six months, you can depend on the same service from the next pair. Care is used in making the Douglas Shoe, and although it only costs $3, bad leather and bad workmanship never get into it, either through oversight or intention.

The Douglas Shoe is made by a wideawake Yankee, who has a great reputation and trade at stake on the superiority of this shoe. Any man who tries to surpass him will have

A Man and a Boy Meet with Horrible Deaths in San Francisco -Attempted Suicide.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.]

MANGLED BY A DUMMY. An Old Pioneer Meets a Horrible Death in San Francisco.

San Francisco, May 1st.—E. O. F. Hastings, an old pioneer and a well-known member of the bar, died in his home at 1506 Pine street an old pioneer and a Well-known member of the bar, died in his home at 1506 Pine street this morning, from injuries received last night by being run over by a car of the Sutter street cable line. The unfortunate man had both legs horriby mangled, and although everything possible was done by the medical attendants to alleviate his sufferings, death was a welcome relief to him when it came. The accident occurred at the coraer of Sutter and Polk streets, and although there were many witnesses to the sad affair none of them know exactly how it happened, for while some say that he slipped and fell while alighting from the front platform of the car, others say that he was accidentally thrown down by another passenger.

The deceased was a native of Ohio, 61 years of age, and leaves a widow and one son. His relatives in the East were all well connected, his father at one time being a member of Congress. He crossed the plains in early days, and in 1849 he settled on Bidwell's bar. After mining for several years he went to Marysville and there commenced the practice of the law. While there he was elected a member of the Legislature, and later on he was appointed. Legislature, and later on he was appointed Registrar of the Land Office at Marysville. The accident happened in front of the Grand Hotel, on New Montgomery street, and according to the story of eye witnesses, it was not due to any carelessness on the part of the driver. The boy ran out from the sidewalk and tried to climb on the truck between the wheels. He caught hold of the stakes, but lost his grip, and the next instant fell to the ground. Haley did not see the boy until the spectators on the sidewalk called out to him, and it was then too late, for the hind wheels had pass over his head, instantly killing him. Haley was taken into custody by policeman James O'Connor and charged with manslaughter, but was immediately released on his own recognizance, by order of Captain Douglass.

SALEM (Or.), May 1st.—This city was startled this evening at 8:20 o'clock by the report of four pistol shots fired in quick succession, and were horrified to find that F. H. Ogle, a young married man, well and popularly known in this county and Linn, had been shot very dangerously. Ogle was in company with J. H. McNary, Deputy County Recorder, and was walking on the street-car track on Commercial street, near State, when he was met by W. E. Hawkins, who remarked. "I hear you have been talking near State, when he was met by W. E. Hawkins, who remarked, "I hear you have been talking about me again," and immediately pulled his revolver and commenced firing, shooting four times. Ogle ran across the street to the sidewalk, where he met Hugh Thompson, and staggered toward him with the exclamation, "I'm shot."

gered toward him with the exclamation, "I'm shot."

Thompson and Wm. J. Clarke assisted him to Gioson & Singleton's drug store. He was very weak and could scarcely speak, showing that something was wrong in the lungs and throat. Drs. W. H. Byrd and J. N. Smith were immediately summoned, and they found but one wound. The bullet had struck the clavicle in front of the left shoulder, breaking the bone and going inside. It is impossible yet to tell the extent of the injury, but it may prove fatal. The patient is spitting blood, and coughs as though his left lung was clogged with blood. Policeman Lake ran immediately to the scene of the shooting, but in the thick smoke could not discover who did it. He saw Hawkins on the sidewalk and caught him, and asked him if he did the shooting. Hawkins answered: "No, the fellow who did the shooting just ran down the street."

The policeman then let him go. In a shor time however he was captured by Lake and Sheriff Croisan and lodged in the County Jail. The cause of the shooting is said to be a private quarrel between them. Hawkins worked for quarrel between them. Hawkins worked for Ogie for some time, quitting last December, and Ogle has been claiming that he was dishonest and had stolen from him. Ogle, who lives on a large farm near Lebanon, came here this morning with his wife, who is a niece of Dr. Horace W. Cox, and it appears told some of Hawkins' friends that the latter had stolen from him. This is supposed to have led to the shooting.

Hawkins was born in Portland and is 30 years old, unmarried and was formerly in the drug business in this city. old, unmarried and was formerly in the drug business in this city.

McNary, who was with Ogle and is a close friend, says that Ogle was not expecting the occurrence, and had no weapon. Hawkins was seen in jail by a Statesman reporter just now and he declines to make any statement except that he shot in self-defense; that Ogle tried to pull a gun. No firearm has been found on Ogle and Hawkins' pistol shows four shots fired, the number heard by those close by.

PORTLAND, May 1st.—News was received her to-day that William Weidner, an Oregon Rai road and Navigation Company conductor, died from injuries received during a collision on one from injuries received during a collision on one of the Fort Worth and Denver City Kailroad Company's trains near Trinidad, Col., last week Weidner was well known in this section. Fifteen of the Danes saved from the wrecked canmark arrived here this morning from New Danmark arrived here this morning from New York and left this afternoon for San Francisco. A decision in the matter of the guardianship of the Holladay children was expected to-day, but Judge Catlin has postponed action in the case. It is almost a settled fact that General Rufus Ingalls will be ignored, notwithstanding the request of the dead parents. General Ingalls understands the position of affairs, and feels indignant. He says: "I cannot understand why I am ignored. The Court's refusal to appoint me guardian of the calidren because I am not a blood relation cannot be based on legal grounds, for the guardianship was offered to Judge George H. Williams, and he is a kinsman of the children."

Derrick Demars, a carpenter, fell a distance of sixty feet from a scaffold while working on the new Grace M. E. Church this afternoon. His injuries are considered fatal.

An investigation in relation to the collision between the Danube and the Alliance began salmon pack for April is far ahead o the corresponding month last year. Marshall Kinney, of the Astoria Packing Company, says: "The pack this year to date is larger than the pack last season by a considerable. The fact is we have already put up more salmon than we did by May 15th last year. I attribute this increase to the fact that the fish are now largely taken by traps, and also that the catch began very early."

To-morrow Frank Jacetta will be tried for the murder of Charles Holsen. Jacetta will plead self-defense in extenuation of his offense.

THE MURDEROUS REDSKINS. It is Thought They Have Already Reached Their Stronghold.

Tucson (A. T.), May 1st.—Nothing of a reliable nature was received to-day from the scenes of the Indian outrages. From Lieutenant Finley, of Fort Apache, it is learned that the Indians have been giving much trouble on the reservation. One chief in particular, with a band of forty bucks, has been insolent and restless. On the way here he noticed that this chief and all his band had disappeared from their usual place of camping. He now thinks it is the gang that is doing the mischief. It is understood that Captain Head, with a party of scouts, is in pursuit of the renegades, but sill is so far from telegraphic communication that it may be days before we get any further news. Troops have been sent from San Carlos, but no concert of action has apparently been taken. The murder of Cody was committed on Friday, and the body was buried the sume day. There is no doubt but that the hostile band is already in the Sierra Madre Mountains, where pursuit is im-Reached Their Stronghold. Sierra Madre Mountains, where pursuit is im-

San Francisco, May 1st.—It is believed that the investigation of the State Prison management will not begin to-morrow, as was originally intended. Prison Director Sonntag said this morning that he had received no notification of the fact, and was of the opinion it would not be held for at least two weeks. The expert is engaged at the San Quentin prison in going over the books and examining the workings of the jute mill. In the opinion of Mr. Sonntag, the investigation will not commence until the work of the expert is; finished.
